Pre-Work – Motivation Technique Assessment

Statement	Deliberate	Always
	1	2	3	4
I try to persuade and influence people rather than force them or guilt-trip them to do what I want.	1	2	3	4
I try to make work as enjoyable as possible for my co-workers and employees	1	2	3	4
I talk to people who don't cooperate to find out their reasons.	1	2	3	4
I use my knowledge of nonverbal communication to influence discussions.	1	2	3	4
I give the people I work with full and frank information whenever possible	1	2	3	4
If I ask people's opinions, I make a point of implementing their ideas when I can.	1	2	3	4
I avoid office politics and gossip.	1	2	3	4
I discourage other people from being involved in office politics and gossip.	1	2	3	4
I involve people in issues at the earliest possible opportunity.	1	2	3	4
I give reasons for my actions and for any disagreements with people.	1	2	3	4
I seek consensus and encourage others to do the same	1	2	3	4
I react to failure by analysis and correction, not blaming.	1	2	3	4
I seek a balance between firm control and giving people independence.	1	2	3	4
I make conscious efforts to improve my motivational skills.	1	2	3	4
I change benchmarks to keep targets at stimulating heights.	1	2	3	4
I revise the system in order to remove obstacles to performance.	1	2	3	4
I encourage people to be open about what they consider positive motivators.	1	2	3	4
In talking with people about their performance in joint efforts, I invite appraisal of my own effort.	1	2	3	4
I organize work so each person can actually complete the assigned task.	1	2	3	4

The Foundation of Motivation

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs

What does your organization do to meet each of these needs?

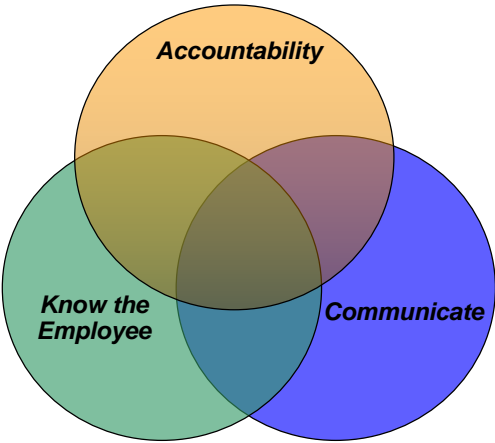

The diagram is a pyramid divided into five horizontal sections, each with a blue line below it. From top to bottom, the sections are labeled: Self Actualized, Esteem, Belonging, Safety, and Physiological.

Environment of Motivation

The diagram consists of three overlapping circles. The top circle is orange and labeled 'Accountability'. The bottom-left circle is green and labeled 'Know the Employee'. The bottom-right circle is blue and labeled 'Communicate'. The overlapping areas between the circles are shaded in various colors.

What do you expect?

Expectations You Have of Employees

© The Employee Engagement Group All Rights Reserved

What is an expectation?

Expectation (n) - anticipation of a result or outcome from ourselves or others

Two types of expectations

- Performance
 - Productivity
 - Project safety, quality, and performance
 - Adherence to company policy
 - Work - life balance
- Development
 - Growth in the department and company
 - Training & education
 - External opportunities

Exercise - Write expectations

Write out one or two 'performance' expectations. These could apply to everyone you supervise or you might want to think of one employee.

Then, thinking of an individual employee, write out at least one 'development' expectations.

Performance Expectations

Exercise – Just ‘Plane’ Motivated

- In your teams, everyone create a paper airplane
 - Do not test any airplanes
- As a team, decide which airplane looks like it will fly farthest
- Select a pilot

- Each team will have one throw to find out which plane goes the farthest

Exercise – Determining Your Motivators

The Seven Motivators Self-Assessment
 A key to motivating anyone is understanding what he or she wants (which, in turn, leads to the motivating factors). This includes yourself. In the boxes beside each motivator, place the numbers 1 – 7, using each number only once. The number 1 is your primary motivator and the number 7 is what motivates you the least. Be sure to use all seven numbers.

After you've ranked yourself, write some ideas that would motivate each of the seven motivators.

Motivation	Need	Ideas for Success
Achievement: <input type="checkbox"/>	Employees with this need want the satisfaction of accomplishing projects successfully. They want to exercise their talents to attain success. They are self-motivated if the job is challenging enough, so provide them with the right work assignments and they will consistently produce.
Authority: <input type="checkbox"/>	These employees get satisfaction from influencing and sometimes even controlling others. They like to lead and persuade, and are motivated by positions of power and leadership. Give them the opportunity to make decisions and direct projects.
Affiliation: <input type="checkbox"/>	This need is satisfied through affiliation with others. These employees enjoy people and find the social aspect of the workplace exciting. Motivate them by giving them opportunities to interact with others, teamwork projects, group meetings, and so on.
Autonomy: <input type="checkbox"/>	These employees want freedom and independence. Allow them to make their own choices, set their own schedules, and work independently of others.
Esteem: <input type="checkbox"/>	These employees need recognition and praise. This does not necessarily mean public praise. Give them ample feedback and recognition whenever possible.
Security: <input type="checkbox"/>	Employees with this motivation care about job security, a steady income, health insurance, and a hassle-free work environment. These folks need predictable work with little risk or uncertainty. Salary and fringe benefits are also important to them.
Equity: <input type="checkbox"/>	These employees want to be treated fairly. They probably compare work hours, job duties, salary, and privileges to those of other employees. They will become discouraged if they perceive inequities.

Using the forced ranking form in your workbook, determine your motivators by ranking each:
 #1 – Your primary motivator
 #7 – Motivates you least

And all the numbers in between.

Once you rank yourself, stand under the label on the wall that matches your PRIMARY motivator.

Next, go to the label that is your #2 motivator

Exercise - Your Team Members' Motivators

Now that you've thought about yourself and what motivates you, think about one person you work with or that is on your team.

What do you think is his/her PRIMARY motivator? Go stand under that label

- Why do you think this?
- How can you use this information to engage him/her?

What is that person's #2 motivator?

In your groups, make a list of 3 – 5 specific things you can do to better engage someone with that motivation style

Exercise - Your Team Members' Motivators

Exercise - Seven Key Motivators
List the members of your staff/team and identify what you think are the primary and secondary motivators for each person.

Motivation	Description
Achievement	Employees with this need want the satisfaction of accomplishing projects successfully. They want to exercise their talents to attain success. They are self-motivated if the job is challenging enough.
Authority	These employees get satisfaction from influencing and sometimes even controlling others. They like to lead and persuade, and are motivated by positions of about and prestige.
Affiliation	This need is satisfied through affiliation with others. These employees enjoy people and find the social aspect of the workplace motivating.
Autonomy	These employees want freedom and independence. They like to work and take responsibility for their own tasks/projects.
Esteem	These employees need sincere recognition and praise. They dislike generalities - praise specific accomplishments. This does not necessarily imply public praise.
Safety and Security	Employees with this motivation care (job security, a steady income, health insurance, other fringe benefits, and a hassle-free work environment).
Equity	These employees want to be treated fairly. They probably compare work hours, job duties, salary, and privileges to those of other employees. They will become discouraged if they perceive inequities.

Name	Primary and/or secondary motivator	Ideas to better engage this employee

Have a seat.

On the form in your workbook, use the first row for your information and the second row for your team member.

Complete column 2 then write some ideas from the report-backs that you can use that will create more motivation for that employee

Moving Your Teams to High Performance

from potential to performance

Accelerating Team Development

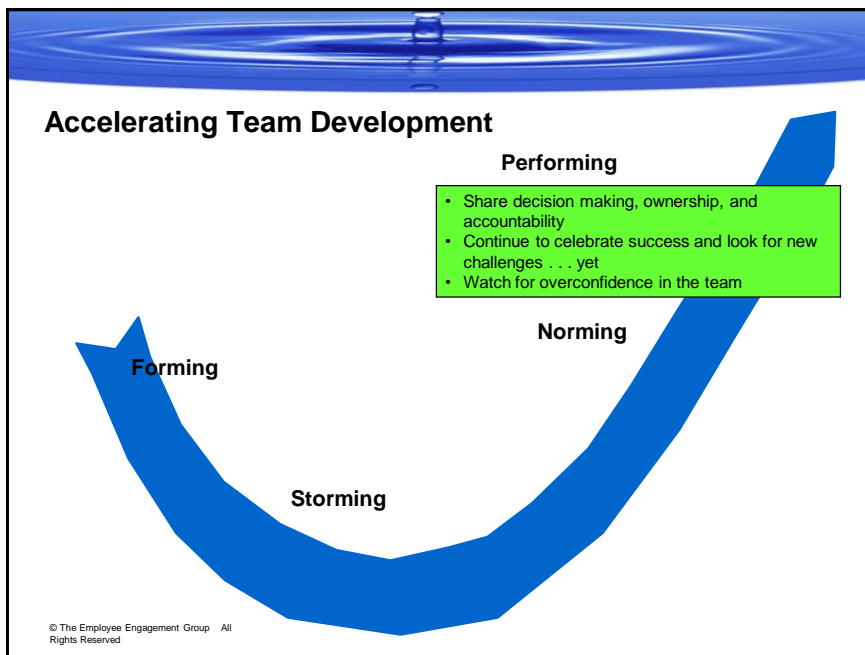

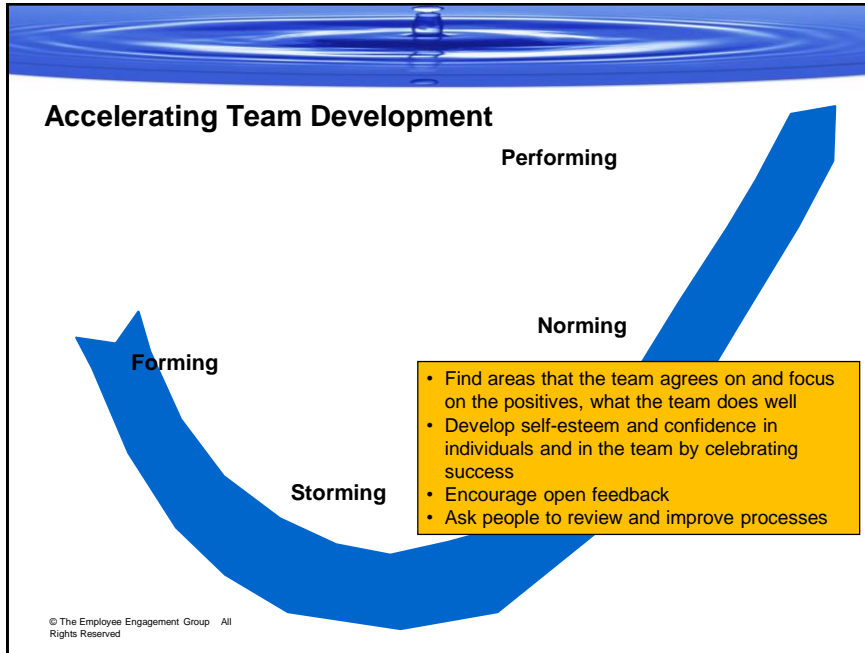

- Acknowledge the situation
- Map out the journey of the team's life, what are the predictable highs and lows
- Establish the common purpose of the team
- Focus on goals, priorities and tasks
- Make it clear how people contribute to the purpose and goals – role, skills and experience
- Establish team norms
- Build relationships and rapport
- Spend time together as a team

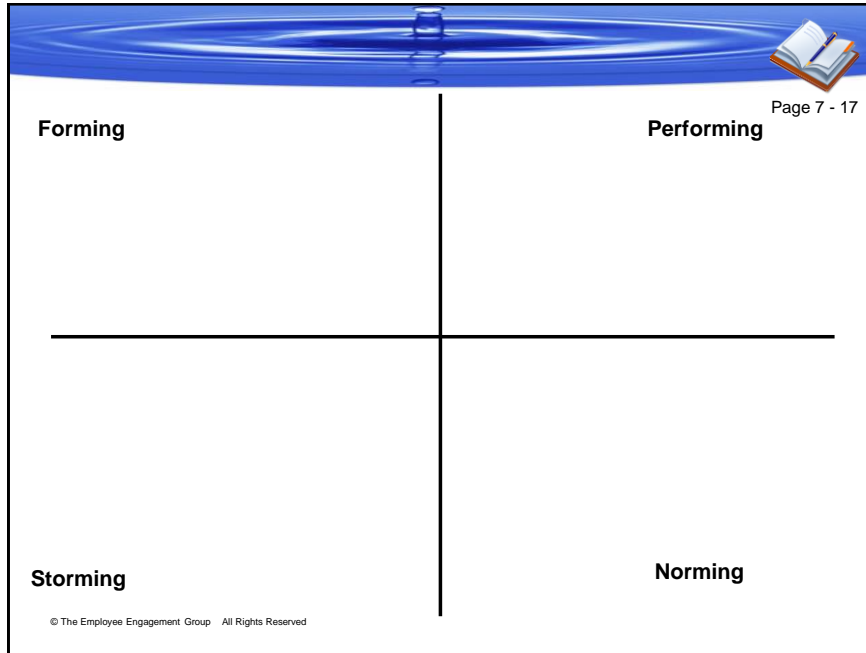

© The Employee Engagement Group All Rights Reserved

Accelerating Team Development

- Storming is natural and essential for change
- Allow expression of differences (and frustrations)
- Handle disagreement 'there and then' and encourage team members to do likewise
- Reinforce positive conflict resolution efforts
- Revisit roles, goals, tasks and expectations
- Balance individual needs with the overall team needs
